The Kind You Have Always Bought

From a Former Cates County Girl.

GARBER, OKLA., Oct. 8, 1906.

EDITOR TIMES: We would like for all our Bates county friends to know we are still in the land of the living and enjoying the best of health. While Oklahoma is literally flowing with milk and honey, you and wine too, as our collars can testify. Still our hearts will wander to the dear old county of Bates and our many friends and relatives therein. We have a few Bates county families here, and our neighbor, R. N. Allen, is building a real old colonial mansion. So ye Bates county friends, when you wish to visit the state of Oklahoma, don't forget to give him a call.

We have good crops and worlds of fruit. Wheat is most all sowed and some of it is up and looks fine. A great many of the farmers are sowing alfalfa this fall. It does well here. Cotton is now ready to pick and a large yield is expected, and as the price is good we will clear from $25 to $40 per acre.

Yours Truly,
Mrs. SARAH KROUSE.

A. H. Lyons Becomes a Democrat.

A. H. Lyons, for several years prominent in newspaper circles in Southwest Missouri, known in the State councils of the Republican party and at present city editor of the Carthage Daily Democrat, announces his renunciation to the stand-pat party and declares he is a Democrat.

In a review of the situation which brings about his change of heart, Mr. Lyons points to the fact that the Republican party has failed in every important promise upon which it went into office two years ago. He says he is convinced that the Republican party is not the party to which the people can successfully look for remedies for existing evils.

"It declared," says Mr. Lyons, "that its representatives in Congress would remedy the rebate evil, correct the abuse of the railroads and that the tariff would be revised in the house of its friends." A Chicago Federal Judge, a Republican before he went on the bench, granted the beef packers an immunity bath, the President switched from his position of hostility to the special interests and approved a railroad-rate bill which is eminently satisfactory to such a distinguished friend of the people as Aldrich, the great Republican leader.

"The Republican party has met the demands of the people for tariff revision first with deception and then with a sneer."

Referring to the Missouri situation he says:

"Again, when I came to Missouri, the first thing I heard was the long wail and woe of the Republican press to see the books." As a born Republican editing a Republican paper, I joined in the cry, believing that wondrous mathematician who presides over the editorial columns of the Globe-Democrat, the G. O. P. Bible, must know whereof he spoke. For nineteen months now there has been in the State of Missouri a Republican Auditor, a Republican Treasurer and a Republican Secretary of State. Yet there remains to be heard the first whimper that they have found a single instance of dishonesty in the more than thirty years record of the Democratic handling of the State funds. More than that, the Republicans have failed even to bring to the gaze of the public a single instance of bad bookkeeping. The Republican party of Missouri has simply failed to make good on its chiefest pretense for the past twelve years. Every Republican platform demanded to 'see the books.' The people gave them the chance two years ago. This year the Republican Convention did not refer to their old slogan. The reason was a good and sufficient one. It had been made ridiculous by the facts.

Cannon Drafts an Official Stenographer to go With Him.

Washington, Oct. 15.—Criticism is heard in Washington of the course of Speaker Cannon in drafting Sam Gray, one of the official stenographers of the House of Representatives, to accompany him around the country on his campaign tour.

The House stenographers are paid $5,000 a year as employees of the House and not as employees of the Speaker. Of course any one of the stenographers, who hold their jobs on the basis of political influence, would perform any personal services possible for the Speaker in order to be assured of his favor. The point is made, however, that the Speaker has no more right to require the services of one of the House stenographers than has any other member of the House.

Her One Regret.

Some years there passed away one of those lovely souls whom we call "saints on earth." Her whole life had been one of inspiration and help to all around her, and her end was not less triumphant. One by one her friends were summoned to her bedside to receive her farewell blessing, and each felt, as she left her, that she had been on hallowed ground. One day her niece, who cared for her, said, "Oh, aunt, what a wonderful thing it is that you can look back over your long life and find that there is absolutely nothing you have ever done that could cause you regret!" The feeble old lady smiled a little sadly, and said:

"But there are things I regret."

"You, aunt!" cried the niece incredulously, "What could you find to regret?"

"I regret," she replied, "the good times I might have had and did not!"

There is a deep lesson in this. The conscientious housewife is apt to be a Martha, "cumbered with much serving," and in her absorption in her daily routine she lets the opportunities for change and recreation slip by her. This is wrong to her household as well as to herself. She owes her family the cheering atmosphere that can only come from a happy, well-balanced nature. To keep at her best the homemaker must have an outside stimulus. So begin this domestic year with the resolution that you will not let imaginary obstacles stand in the way of your enjoyment.—Harper's Bazar.

Defining The Tariff.

All dictionaries agree that a "tariff is a tax."

A high tariff is a high tax. What is a "protective tariff?" It is a high tax under a misleading name.

The word "protective" is the sugar coating on the pill. It is fixed that way to induce the people to swallow it readily.

If it is a "protective" tax, whom does it protect?

It protects the high prices of the millionaire manufacturer, the trust magnate, the Standard Oil Co., etc. They never drop.

Does the high tariff (high tax) make the prices of farm products go up? Hardly! Wheat has dropped more than 25 cents a bushel in the last few months.

Some Republicans said when wheat was high, that the Republicans high tariff put it up.

If it did, why didn't it keep it at a high price?

The tax is just the same, but the price of wheat is not.

Have the prices of manufactured articles taken a drop?

Not that any one can notice. What is the conclusion?

There can only be one conclusion—that the tariff makes the consumer pay more for all manufactured articles, but does not help him to get a better price for the products of the soil.—Ex.

Cutting For Pear Blight.

If pear or apple trees are blighted for the first time, the evidence of the disease is apparent when the second growth of the season is coming on. Whenever dead leaves are found, pruning should be resorted to unsparingly, and care should be taken that all the diseased limbs and twigs are cut off well below the affected parts. The cuttings should be burned. When pruning, carry along a vessel containing formaldehyde one part and water two parts. Dip the pruning shears in this solution after cutting each limb, and with a small brush or swab apply some of the mixture to the places where the limbs are cut off.

Family Reunion.

Garber, (Okla.) Sentinel.

Sunday, Sept., 9th, at the pleasant home of Mr. and Mrs. Enos Vaughn, a family reunion was held.

A happy day was enjoyed by all, a bountiful dinner was served with ice cream and lemonade on the side. Those present were Mr. and Mrs. J. Woods and three children, Mr. Ruth Boardman and daughter of Cleo, Oklahoma, Mrs. Anise Fisher and two children, of Apache, Oklahoma, Enos Vaughn Jr. and wife and T. T. Vaughn, of Summer, Oklahoma, Mrs. G. F. Rhodus and three children, Mr. and Mrs. F. Whetzel and Sterling V. an only unmarried child of the family. Children and grandchildren were all present, except Sylvia the ten year old daughter of F. F. Vaughn who resides with her grandmother, Mrs. Courtney, in Bates County Missouri. The family had not been united before for twelve years. All the children and mother were born and raised on the same place in Bates county, Mo. But the old home has passed into strange hands. Sunday evening when the children gathered around the organ to sing their old songs, you may be sure they broke down when they came to the song "Take me Home to the Place Where I first saw the Light."

J. Wickard, the Garber Photographer came down and took a picture of the house and family. And on the next day the family scattered to the four winds of Oklahoma. Those present beside the family were Mrs. Adams and two children, Miss Cora and N. V., cousins of the Vaughn family, Wm. Sample and mother and Mr. and Mrs. L. C. Dunn.

A GUEST.

Shaw as a Humorist.

Next to Mark Twain, our favorite humorist is Secretary Shaw, says the Omaha World-Herald. We commend him to our readers and to fun-loving people everywhere. One dose of Shaw will cure the blues, and the full treatment of twenty speeches is warranted to put an end to the worst case of chronic dyspepsia.

Herewith is a homeopathic dose of Shaw, culled from the Associated Press dispatches:

"The secretary spoke for two hours, the larger portion of his address being devoted to explaining the benefit the tariff was to the country and how impossible it was to annihilate the trusts. He praised the Sherman law and asserted that no stronger one could be put on the statute books."

Now just let that soak in! Isn't it delicious, when you get the full flavor of it?

The tariff, which builds up the trusts, which protects them and gives them power to levy tribute, says the secretary, with owl-like wisdom, is of incalculable benefit to the country. As to the trusts, buttressed and shielded by the tariff, it is impossible to annihilate them.

But, nevertheless and notwithstanding, the Sherman anti-trust law, whose sole and avowed purpose it is to punish trust malefactors and put trusts out of business, is accorded highest praise by the secretary. "No stronger one," he says, "could be put on the statute books."

What joker ever got off anything clever than that?

It is impossible to annihilate the trusts, but the Sherman law, for annihilation of the trusts, is a strong and powerful measure, that fills the bill exactly!

A Young Mother at 70.

"My mother has suddenly been made young at 70. Twenty years of intense suffering from dyspepsia had entirely disabled her, until six months ago, when she began taking Electric Bitters, which have completely cured her and restored the strength and activity she had in the prime of life," writes Mrs. W. L. Gilpatrick, of Danforth, Me. Greatest restorative medicine on the globe.
